

Billy Comedian Elmer

Billy Elmer started his comedy career in a high school comedy group. An actor in college, he formed the improvisational comedy troupe, "Hazel's Neighbors," which toured the club and college circuit to great acclaim. After life in the "Fat Lane" took its toll on his partners, Billy wandered aimlessly for an hour and decided to dedicate his life to comedy - or at least until he could do a Wendy's commercial.

Billy has gone on to become one of the hottest comedians in the country. In addition to his many network television appearances, he was awarded an exclusive spot on "The Tonight Show" during the final few weeks of Johnny Carson's reign.

Billy's successful stand-up career has not gone unnoticed by the film industry either. He made an unforgettable appearance in "The Wedding Singer," (New Line Cinema), starring Adam Sandler and Drew Barrymore. Billy also made appearances in several other motion pictures, such as "Inspector Gadget," "Fear of a Black Hat," "Rock & Roll Mom" and "Day of the Dead." A regular headliner at The Comedy Stop at the Tropicana Hotel and Casino in both Las Vegas and Atlantic City, Elmer also performs before sell-out crowds at clubs and colleges across the nation.

Billy Elmer has been delivering hysterical comedy performances to audiences for over 20 years. His outrageous brand of humor has won him numerous national network appearances on shows such as Night At The Improv, Comic Strip Live, Showtime Comedy Club Network, Showtime All Star Special, A&E's Comedy on the Road, Caroline's Comedy Hour, MTV's Half Hour Comedy Hour, (to name a few) plus 3 appearances on Star Search.

Locally, Billy can be heard and seen on radio and television ads as spokesman for a Pittsburgh area car dealership. He has been a featured personality on a variety of Pittsburgh radio stations and can also be found performing regularly as a headlining act in Las Vegas and Atlantic City, along with extensive bookings at clubs, colleges and corporate events from coast to coast.

talent network, inc. - 412-264-4727
www.talentnetworkinc.com / mail@talentnetworkinc.com